Reference for Martin Timusk

I have known and worked with Martin Timusk for over five years, between January 2001 and today. I have leveraged his extensive knowledge of Internet technologies in general and portal technologies specifically numerous times over this period in order to deliver the best solutions that both address my client's needs as well as work within the Enbridge Technology environment.

In my role as Business Systems Manager I work directly with the business to identify key opportunities where the Information Technology Groups can deliver assistance to business clients with specific problems. Martin has been integral in architecting solutions that leverage our investments in Portal Technologies, Document Management Solutions and our centralized LDAP user store. His extensive knowledge of the inner workings of these technologies has helped us exploit the technology to provide robust yet easy to support solutions that fully leverage the capabilities of each technology. Specific solutions include:

- Information Technology Request Management System – using, portals, LDAP data stores, XML RPC to send data to a third party applications.
- External Partner data access – using portals, LDAP data stores, and portlet bound database access.

Martin has also assisted in mentoring my technical developers as they learn how to deploy solutions that leverage the capabilities of the portal. He has also worked extensively across many different Project Managers to ensure that all projects are leveraging the portal were appropriate. His ability to quickly understand the business requirements and to brainstorm effective portal bound systems as been invaluable in many of the projects my teams have delivered to our clients.

I have enjoyed working with Martin, over the last five years and would recommend him to any organization looking to deploy or exploit investments in portal or Internet technologies.

Sincerely,
